RANDOM NAME GENERATOR

The Random Name Generator is an important teaching tool in any classroom. We all have students that are extroverts and eager to respond. We also have students that are shy and reluctant to raise their hand and participate. Without randomisation techniques your quiet students might be left behind and you will miss gaining valuable feedback.

Every student should be potentially assessed during your lesson.

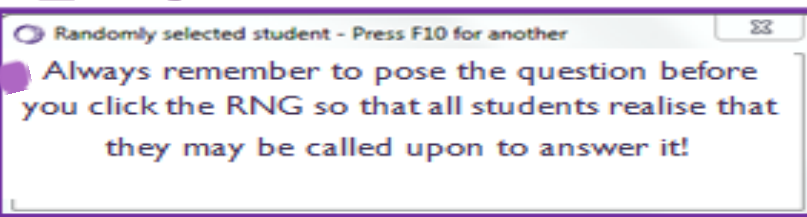

Use the Random Name Generator as a norm in your classroom you will create a standard and an increased level of awareness and content retention with your students. Once students begin to realise that they may be called on at any given moment they generally will actively improve their levels of awareness and interest.
